Our worldwide engineering staff have the knowledge, experience and insight needed to solve your toughest sealing issues. We are active in a number of industry organizations and are instrumental in shaping the future of European and North American standard organizations. Whether it's customer service at a central location or technical support out in the field, our experts are ready 24/7 to help you.

The Flexitallic brand represents global leadership in the engineering and manufacturing of industrial sealing products. In 2012, Flexitallic acquired AGS, combining the power of both to form a stronger, single-source solution for gaskets, custom metal fabrication and bolting - all backed with one-point-of-contact customer support.
